The Times.

Office—Temple, Main and New High.

Shall the Authorities be Sacrificed, or Sustained?

The Herald and one of its correspondents continue to be much exercised over the recent action of the City Council in deciding to stand by the Chief of Police in his efforts to perform his duty efficiently. It is plain that the enemies of the new municipal government do not want the Chief to be sustained; it is equally plain that they do want him broken down. To accomplish this they resort to flagrant misrepresentations of facts and bald sophistry in argument. It is charged that the Council, in voting to pay $150 counsel fees to defend the Chief in the suits for false imprisonment brought against him (and $150 more in the event of an appeal being taken to the Supreme Court) transcended its authority and "nullified the charter," which, it is true, requires the votes of two-thirds of the members of the Council (10) to make a legal appropriation from the city treasury. The charge is cunning, but it is groundless. The facts have not been correctly stated by the Council's critics. Let them be kept in view. They are these:

The Chief made application for the employment of special counsel to defend him in the suits brought against him for arrests made while in the discharge of his official duty. Upon the question of referring it to the Committee on Police, with power to act, the Council voted as follows: Ayes—Bullis, Biscailuz, Brown, Day, Hamilton, Holbrook, Lambie, Miles, Niles, Santee, Sinsabaugh and Velsir—12. Noes—none. Under this authority the committee could expend not to exceed three hundred dollars, but they were fully authorized to expend that sum if found necessary, and the vote by which the reference was made was a vote appropriating the money. When the Council referred the matter to the committee, with power to act, limited only by the restrictions of the charter, no further vote to appropriate money was necessary, unless the committee had asked authority to exceed the charter limit of $300. Having placed the matter in the hands of the committee with power to act, the Council is bound in good faith to ratify the action of the committee, which was done, when the committee reported that they had employed the firm of Bicknell & White to defend the suits brought against the chief. Therefore the charge that the charter has been "nullified" is without the slightest foundation and falls to the ground.

Upon the question of the right and duty of the city to come to the rescue of any officer who might be attacked, the Herald, and its echo, the Express, are equally unfortunate. There are thousands of precedents where the United States, the State and municipal governments, have defended their officers when suits were brought against them for acts done while in the discharge of their duty. Any other course would be an act of cowardice. There is no official in the city of Los Angeles, from his Honor the Mayor down to the keeper of the parks, who might not be driven out of his office by a combination of gamblers, thieves, prostitutes and their defenders, unless it is understood that when an officer is in the line of his duty he shall be sustained by every power of the municipal government. The Herald, with its wise saws and irrelevant references, issued its dictum that the Chief had exceeded his legal powers when he arrested a woman for keeping a house of ill-fame and a man for being an inmate of said house, and put them in jail. The Express, taking its cue from its natural leader, took up the cry, and the parties who feared the action of the Chief in the faithful discharge of his duty joined them, in the hope that his honest efforts to rid the city of disreputable characters would come to naught. No amount of sophistry can cover up the too plainly-exposed desire on the part of the Herald for the failure of the Republican administration in this city. But it will not fail.

Honest efforts on the part of every city officer to punish criminals will be sustained by the people, and by the members of the Council who represent the people.

Who is McCafferty? A few know it here, better than the English Government. He was here about two years ago and made the acquaintance of a number of our citizens. From here he went to Europe, and his after history is known to but few. One who knows him well tells us that Capt. McCafferty is a born conspirator and has always been a devoted adherent of the Irish cause. In 1880 he was superintendent of a mine at Aravaca, Arizona, which for a while did well but finally "petered" out. In the fall of that year he was elected to the lower house of the Territorial Legislature and was a prominent member. After the closing down of his mine at Aravaca he disappeared and soon afterward identified himself with revolutionary schemes in Ireland, receiving at last a recognition from the English Government. He is a man of good address, cool in danger and full of Milesian pluck. Those who know him personally believe he will prove the most troublesome customer England has yet had.

THE town is in a broad grin over the antics of the Express in being so ready to sneeze whenever the Herald takes snuff. The mutual admiration of our two contemporaries is refreshing. First the Herald pitches the key, and outlines the policy to be followed, the Express hastens to indorse it, and then the Herald turns around and copies from the Express and tells what an influential Republican journal is the evening paper. It is a pretty play, but deceives no one. A newspaper that plays the public for fools will soon be without an audience.

SENATOR MILLER has introduced a bill to pay Mother Bickerdyke, of San Francisco, $10,080 for her services as a nurse during the war. She was one of the noble women who distinguished themselves during the great contest for good deeds done to the soldiers—deeds no less worthy than those which made the fame of the soldiers themselves immortal.

A CORRESPONDENT in another column makes a very clear and forcible statement of the attitude of the Chief of Police to the law and to his official duty. He polishes off the Herald's "Tax-payer" with neatness and dispatch.

WASHINGTON.

The Nicaragua Treaty Defeated in the Senate.

ROSECRANS AND THE GRANT TELEGRAMS

A Memorial from California—The Congo Conference—Other Gleanings from the National Capital.

Associated Press Dispatches to The Times.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—The Senate went into executive session at 12 o'clock to-day, and the suspended vote of last night on Mr. Vance's motion to postpone action on the consideration of the Nicaraguan treaty was considered, resulting in the defeat of the motion—22 to 25. Mr. Sherman's amendment looking to the abrogation or modification of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty was then discussed for some hours, and coming to a vote in Committee of the Whole, was defeated—27 to 28. The second Sherman amendment, relating to discrimination in tolls, was defeated without division. The treaty was then reported to the Senate, and a vote taken on the Sherman amendment in relation to the Clayton-Bulwer treaty was again taken up, resulting in its adoption—30 to 19. A vote was then taken upon the treaty itself, and 32 Senators voted for its ratification while 23 voted against it. The affirmative being less than two-thirds of the whole number voting, the treaty was not ratified.

THE CONGO CONFERENCE.

How the United States was Represented in the Negotiations.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—In response to the House resolution calling for information respecting the participation of the United States in the Congo Conference, the President to-day sent to the House a report submitted by the Secretary of State to the President. The Secretary says that some time must elapse before a full documentary history of the transaction can be laid before Congress, but in view of the general interest taken in the subject, he submits a preliminary report, leaving the transmission of papers to follow. He then gives information of the causes and motives of the participation of this government in the Berlin conference all of which is well known to the public. "It being established," the report proceeds, "that Congress was not to have plenipotentiary functions, no special credentials were needed to enable Mr. Kasson to attend as a delegate of this government, he being already accredited as minister in the Imperial court. The instructions sent Kasson were brief, but precise as to the exclusion of questions of territorial jurisdiction. By direction of the President, Mr. Henry Sanford, whose relation to the International Association representing the free States of Congo seemed to fit him for the work, was appointed Associate Delegate in behalf of the United States, his course to be governed by the instructions sent Kasson. Sanford not being an officer of this Government was accredited by a letter addressed by the undersigned to the Minister of Foreign Affairs in Germany, as Associate Delegate. The resolution of the House calls for the text of the credentials or powers given the representatives of the United States, and the letter accrediting Sanford will be communicated with the rest of the correspondence at an early day. It may, however, be here mentioned that it confers no definite powers on him. It merely recites the proposals of the Imperial Government that associate delegates having special knowledge of the condition of affairs in Western Africa and especially in the region of Congo, should assist at the meeting of the conference and formally accredits Sanford as such associate delegate on behalf of the United States." Subsequently, the report says, Henry M. Stanley was invited by the conference itself to appear and give information touching the Congo region, as to which he is admitted the original and sole authority. Stanley's name appears in the protocol of the proceedings as associate delegate of the United States, but he was not accredited otherwise than by Kasson's personal introduction. Neither Sanford nor Stanley have had a vote in the proceedings. The voting has been by countries, the delegation of each voting as a unit, as the fact of voting is quite a matter of form." The latest dispatches received from Kasson, Secretary Frelinghuysen says, being the proceedings to December 15, on which day the conference adjourned until January 5. Up to that time the Department of State has no reason to feel otherwise than satisfied with the discretion, prudence and ability with which Kasson has carried out the instructions given him. Besides limiting the position of the United States to one of commercial interest dissociated from questions of territorial control, he has been attentive that no act on our part shall deviate from constitutional policy.

GENERAL WASHINGTON NEWS.

What Rosecrans Says About Grant's Dispatches.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29.—In explanation of the opposition of General Rosecrans to the bill for retiring General Grant, some papers have published two dispatches purporting to be from General Grant, and sent during the war to Stanton and Halleck, one demanding Rosecrans' removal and the other ordering his arrest in a certain contingency. When General Rosecrans' attention was called to the dispatches named, he said: "This is the first intimation I have ever had of the existence of any such dispatches or of any ground upon which such telegrams might be based."

A CALIFORNIA MEMORIAL.

A memorial from the California Legislature was presented to the Senate to-day by Mr. Miller, urging the passage of the bill to establish a branch of the National Soldiers' Home in California.

ORDERED TO SOUTH AMERICA.

Santos, a naturalized American citizen imprisoned there for alleged complicity in rebellion and whose speedy execution is apprehended.

CIVIL SERVICE PROVISIONS.

The Civil Service Commission is considering a proposition to include in the classification of employes coming within the provisions of the civil service act all Government employes enumerated in the laws relative to civil service, except officers nominated by the President and confirmed by the Senate and employes below the $900 grade. Such classification would include the chiefs of divisions, the assistant chiefs and a number of departmental officers who are not subject to confirmation by the Senate.

THE SILVER CONVENTION.

An Inharmonious Assembly, but Some Progress Made.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 29.—The National Silver Convention reassembled at 10 o'clock. The temporary chairman read the following telegram from Hon. Henry M. Teller, Secretary of the Interior:

WASHINGTON, Jan. 29, 1885.—Chairman of the Silver Convention: I desire through you to assure the convention over which you preside that I am in full sympathy with every effort to secure to silver all the advantages conferred by law on gold. I do not believe that silver will take its just rank as a money metal in the commercial marts of the world until its money functions shall be recognized by the law, giving the holder of silver bullion every privilege given the holder of gold bullion. To this end, I pledge you my untiring efforts.

(Signed) H. M. TELLER.

The reading of the telegram was followed by tremendous cheering, lasting some minutes. On reassembling this afternoon the convention again took up the question of representation. The Committee on Credentials in its report had announced 1041 delegates present with proper credentials, but in view of the fact that some of the counties of Colorado were represented by a hundred or more delegates, while others were represented by a much smaller number, the committee recommended as a matter of justice to all parts of the State, that each county represented be allowed double the number of votes accredited to it at the late Republican and Democratic State conventions. A delegate moved as an amendment that each delegate present be allowed one vote. An angry discussion followed, ending in the adoption of the report. The Committee on Permanent Organization reported the name of ex-Governor James B. Grant as permanent chairman. A minority report of the same committee was also presented, recommending ex-Senator Tabor as permanent chairman. Then ensued a scene almost indescribable and certainly disgraceful. There were yells, hisses, laughter, shoutings and motions to adjourn sine die. The meeting became a perfect mob of crazy men whom the chairman was wholly unable to control. A delegate finally obtained recognition from the chair, and in a powerful speech in the interest of harmony succeeded in bringing order out of chaos. "In the interest of silver, for the sake of Colorado," he moved as a substitute for both reports that Governor B. H. Eaton be permanent chairman. The motion was unanimously adopted. The balance of the majority report was subsequently adopted. A Committee on Resolutions and Memorials was appointed, consisting of one from each county of Colorado, and one from each of the other States and Territories represented in the convention. On motion a committee of twelve was appointed to consider and report upon the question of the formation of a national silver association. The committee consists of delegates from each of the States represented. The convention adjourned till 10 o'clock to-morrow.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 30, 1885.

St. John's Man Legate.

Below will be found some pertinent, pointed and perpendicular statements from a correspondent who knows whereof he writes (because he was on the spot where took place the occurrences which he relates) concerning the notorious James F. Legate, of Kansas, the political huckster who wanted to procure the buying off, for $25,000, by the National Republican Committee, of his principal and patron, the saithly John, the ally of the Democracy in the late Presidential campaign. Our correspondent has a troublesome memory, and we print what he says as an effective supplement to the brief editorial in yesterday's TIMES on the subject of the party of the name of Legate:

To the Editor of the Times—SIR: Your article this morning on James F. Legate reminds me of many strange things in his political career. In only one thing was he honest, that he claimed no honesty. In figure he was gross, in speech rough, in sentiment coarse. In the internecine Republican wars in Kansas his only object was to make a stake, and he selected, with unerring certainty, the faction with the longest purse. At the time of the Johnson impeachment trial he was in Washington in a most impecunious condition. His wit suggested that he might make money out of Senator Pomeroy's vote, so he hied him to the anti-impeachment managers with a document purporting to come from the Senator, stating that his friend Legate (the bearer) was authorized to negotiate for his vote on the impeachment question. On this power of attorney Legate tried to get $100,000 from Reverdy Johnson and the other managers for President Johnson. Failing in this, the matter became public and Senator Pomeroy demanded the return of the paper to him. This was done by Legate for a sum of money, but before surrendering it he took a negative of it. Shortly after, Pomeroy learned of the negative and asked for its surrender. The unblushing Legate gave it up for a consideration, previously having some photographs of it taken. Pomeroy now thought himself safe, but was sadly mistaken. The wily Legate had his periods of poverty, and on pressing occasions it was his custom for years to sell Pomeroy a photograph of the fatal letter, protesting on his honor that each was the last. This continued until Legate struck some better financial racket, but the facts were well known to those in Kansas politics. In January, 1873, State Senator York, with a dramatic flourish, threw Pomeroy's $7000 bribe on the clerk's desk in the capitol at Topeka, demanding that it be placed in the school fund. "Jim" Legate's eyes fastened on it, and he never lost the trail until he had a "divvy" nearly two years later. After several changes of venue the charge of felony against Pomeroy was dismissed, and the only thing was to dispose of the $7000 package. Legate appeared as Pomeroy's agent, and the parties most interested held a sort of inquest on the spoils. The costs of the various trials were paid, some State officers got a share, the virtuous York got $500 for his trouble, Jim Legate took $500, and when these political ghouls left that back room in Topeka, Kansas, each had his share of Pomeroy's $7000 in his pocket, and there was nothing left for the school fund.

St. John was not in this, though it seems he was not unwilling to join with Legate in a scheme to obtain $25,000 from the Republican National Committee. Legate is just such a go-between as a smooth-Ephraim like St. John would select for such work, and the secret history of it would never have been published but that tricky Jim suspected that St. John afterwards made a trade with the Democrats in which he had no commission. It is well that such a pair are exposed together to the public, Legate in his infamy and St. John in his hypocricy. The advertisement will give Legate national prominence as a political "expert" and will help St. John in his "reform" lecturing tour.

Exploring the Yukon.

A Government exploration of the river Yukon is proposed. It is designed to use for the purpose a steam launch, ascending the river so soon in the season as the stream is clear of ice (which is not before June,) and after spending the short season in the upper waters, descending before the river is again closed by ice. This great river is very long—nearly two thousand miles within United States territory—and it requires about all of the open season, which does not exceed three or four months, to make the round trip in the coughing little steamers, with batteaux attachment, which ply on the river, carrying furs between the trading posts above and the chief depot at Fort St. Michel, on Norton Sound. A steam launch would make somewhat better time, but at the best it could not do much real work in the way of exploration on the upper waters in a single short season. The better plan would seem to be to ascend the river to near the British line, winter at Fort Yokon or Fort Reliance, and resume operations the following spring, continuing the work of exploration until that far northern terra incognita is no longer such.

The Great River of the North has been ascended frequently, but nothing like a thorough exploration of the country contiguous to it has ever been made. No doubt it is a rich field for the scientist, the explorer, and possibly for the miner, though as to the latter resource the shortness of the seasons would make the working of any but the very richest mines unprofitable.

There is, we believe, an unsettled boundary question between this country and the British possessions. The sending of the proposed exploring expedition might be taken advantage of by the Government to have the disputed question looked into, with a view to its final adjustment. A difference of a few hundred miles as to the division line would not, however, be cause for going to war. The land is not worth it.

SACRAMENTO.

Making Stanford Senator — Incidents of the Contest.

THE STEELE EPISODE AND McLEAN'S VOTE

Ratifying the Selection—Speeches—Stanford on the Floor—Speculations—Dividing Counties—McGlashan's Bill.

[STAFF CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 28.—The event of the session culminated to-day in the selection of Leland Stanford to be United States Senator for six years from the 4th of March next. There was no excitement, although the gallery and the floor were filled with interested spectators. The same may be said of the proceedings in the House and Senate yesterday when the separate ballots were taken, although in the Senate considerable interest was manifested when Senator Steele arose to explain his vote. The Republicans seemed to expect a protest from the Senator from San Luis Obispo, although they were certain he would abide the caucus rule and vote for Stanford. But the Democrats were unprepared for the vigorous and energetic manner in which Mr. Steele saw fit to express his opinion of the coming Senator from California. Consequently his speech has been in great demand among the unterrified.

JOINT CONVENTION.

At 12 m. to-day the two Houses met in joint convention, and formally proceeded to ratify the selection of Stanford. Lieutenant-Governor Daggett presided, and after the roll had been called, Speaker Parks took the floor, and in a speech that was more of a panegyric nominated Governor Stanford. Hurlburt, of Humboldt, Heath, of Santa Cruz, and Roseberry, the last of the Perkins men, the man who stood by his ship when all but himself had deserted it, seconded the nomination. Parks' speech was applauded, but not very vigorously. Senator Spencer, of Napa, then nominated George Hearst in a short speech, and the nomination was seconded by Spencer, of Stanislaus, and Assemblyman M. T. Dooling, of San Benito. The latter is a young man, and when it is said that of all the speeches his was par excellence the best of the day, he is paid no undeserved compliment. As soon as Mr. Dooling had finished, the roll of the Senate was called by Secretary Smith, followed by Clerk Ryan calling the roll of the House. When the name of McLean, of Santa Barbara, was reached, he answered "Stanford," but the Clerk failed to hear him, and no wonder, because the word came out of his throat with such reluctance that I, who sat immediately behind him, barely heard the word myself. When Senator Kellogg's name was called he answered "Hearst," much to the astonishment of the other Readouts. Cross voted for Searls, and Dougherty and Kelley stood by Farley. The vote as announced was Stanford 79, one Republican being absent; Hearst, 37; Farley, 2; Searls, 1. After the announcement of the vote and the declaration of Stanford as Senator, the joint Convention dissolved, and the Senators proceeded to their own chamber, while the House took a recess for half an hour in order that word might be sent to Governor Stanford, who arrived in town this morning.

STANFORD ON THE FLOOR.

Shortly after reassembling the Speaker announced that Senator-elect Stanford was present, and the House thereupon took another recess in order that the members might tender him their congratulations, and he was soon surrounded by numerous admirers. After a stay of nearly an hour on the floor of the House, the Senator-elect visited the Senate chamber, and was introduced to the members, by whom he was cordially congratulated. Before leaving the Capital he also called on Governor Stoneman. He leaves here to-morrow and will proceed to New Orleans, spending some time there, and will thence go to Washington.

There are some people who have forebodings as to the influence the newly-elected Senator will wield at the Capital of the nation when he takes his seat. Undoubtedly these fears are groundless to a great extent, as in a business point of view and inadaptability to handle the great questions of the day, especially the one that is absorbing the agricultural interests of the country—interstate commerce—he will be the peer of any man on the floor of the Senate. But there is great danger that Senator Stanford will fall a victim to the wiles of a numerous class of parasites who infest Washington, and who, whenever opportunity offers, fasten themselves upon any man of wealth who is too magnanimous to hurt their feelings by telling them in plain terms that he will have none of them.

DIVIDING COUNTIES.

There is a bill before the Committee on County and Township Governments which I think the citizens of Los Angeles will feel an interest in. It is entitled "An Act for the division of existing counties, and for the creation of new counties." The bill was introduced by McGlashan of Nevada, and will be reported favorably with a few slight amendments to-morrow. To meet the objections of certain members who live in small counties, a section has been added to it, providing that no new county shall be formed which has less than an area of six hundred square miles, and unless the county or counties from which it is taken is left with that area. It is well understood that there are some people in the southern part of Los Angeles county who desire a division of the county. Colonel Edwards favors this bill, as he himself is among that number. But do the majority of the people of Los Angeles county? Once divided it will lose its prestige. This bill will likely pass the House before any action can be taken by the people most interested, but if objectionable they may be able to kill it in the Senate.

REFORM SCHOOL.

The Reform School bill still hangs in committee. There seems to be considerable objection to the project on the ground that such an institution proved a failure after a three years' trial. The institution alluded to was located at Marysville, and although I never visited it, from a conversation had with a gentleman who has been at the head of a public institution in San Francisco for a long term of years, I am satisfied that it was owing to a lack of proper management. It was run as a sort of an adjunct to the political fortunes of an unscrupulous Board of Supervisors, and all supplies were furnished by men selected by this Board, and the officers were mere creatures to carry out the will of the Board. Consequently a man who understood the management of the school, and who was willing to take it under conditions, could not be found.

THE INSANE BILLS.

The editorial comment of the TIMES on the insane bills, which appeared in Tuesday's paper, has created some talk. Colonel Edwards desires to set Dr. Whitcomb, Chairman of State Hospitals Committee, right, and states that he (the doctor) is favorable to the Edwards bill. Colonel Edwards also believes that his bill will be favorably reported upon by the committee, but all the same I must stick to my former assertion that the purpose is to locate the third asylum either at San Rafael or Santa Cruz. If this is changed it will only be by the most strenuous and united efforts of all the representatives and Senators from Southern California, and in my opinion the majority of them care very little about the matter.

NOTES.

The Weaver bill, to amend section 163 of "An Act to establish a uniform system of county and township governments," has been favorably reported to the House, and will undoubtedly pass. It reduces existing salaries in some cases and increases them in others. So far as Los Angeles county is concerned it increases the salaries of Auditor, Assessor and Tax Collector to $3000 per annum each. Their present salaries are $1800 each.

The report published in a Los Angeles paper that Miss Lulu B. Edwards, of Santa Ana, was married in that city last week is erroneous. Miss Edwards is with her father in Sacramento, and is ready to prove an alibi that she is o'er young to marry yet. MACK.

LET ME FIND THEE.

Within my heart a great, strong tidal wave
Uplifts me far above the quiet calm
Of every day's weak, unimpassioned life—
Lifts me to high yearning; I stretch out my arms
To God and Heaven, my soul's crying rife
With strong desire that God Himself would show
Me something of Himself, teach me to know
What God is. I see His Hand in all things
In this fair world; each happy bird that sings,
Each golden ray of sunshine, each soft breeze,
Each blade of grass, the tall and stately trees,
The fragrant flowers, the laughing brooks, the sea,
The mountains, all voice Diety to me,
But through Thy heart, O God, let me find Thee.

ELIZA A. OTIS.

Los Angeles, January 28, 1885.

said, when I am dead the world will be the same,
The happy sun will shine, and the sweet winter's rain
Will come to wake the early flowers, whose perfumes sweet
Will fill the golden air; the fair, high stars will greet
Fond, loving eyes, and e'en as in the long ago
I heard the old, old story, they shall hear and know—
Those glad young lovers who in after years shall come
And find such fresh, new joy in living when I'm done
With all earth has to give, when in this world for me
Is but the grass-clad narrow grave wherein I sleep,
Anear, perhaps, the soft whispering of the sea,
And where their silent watch the lofty mountains keep.
O the glory of the waking from that sleep
The life beyond, with its eternal sweep!

A SETTLEMENT THAT DON'T PROPOSE TO BE IGNORED.

Correspondence of the TIMES.]

RIVERDALE, Cal., Jan. 13, 1885.—I write to ask for an explanation. In your review of the growth of the towns and villages in Los Angeles county, you ignore our pretty valley and settlement. Why is this thus? [Riverdale shall henceforth be counted among the promising settlements of Los Angeles county.—ED. CONSUMPTION.

The early symptoms of this disease are a sense of weariness upon little exertion, and disposition to remain passive and idle; a peculiar sensitiveness of the effects of cold, and a shortness of breath upon moving quickly or ascending a hill or stairs, a slight hacking cough with or without expectoration, flying pains throughout the chest or back or under the shoulder-blades; the symptoms are worse towards or during the night; slight fever in the afternoon, cold feet and hands, and in many cases blue lividity of the lips and roots of the finger nails. The more advanced symptoms are wasting of flesh, diarrhœa, chills and fever, night sweats, expectoration of yellow pus from the ulcers or cavities in the lungs, with or without a depression of the chest, increasing weakness, and at last a closing up of the air passages of the lungs, causing strangulation or suffocation of the patient for want of power to expectorate the mucus from the lungs. Heretofore the treatment of consumption has been very unsatisfactory, both to physicians and their patients, but luckily, since the discovery of the Aerocure system of practice, a few years ago, thousands of cases have been completely cured, where, had it not been for this system of practice, utter failure to combat the evils of the disease would have continued up to the present time. The system of Medicated Inhalation is the only means by which these diseases can be cured. By this means we are enabled to dissolve the hardened mucus in the lungs, ease the cough, facilitate expectoration, contract and heal ulcers and cavities after all hope of cure by ordinary methods is passed. CONSULTATION FREE. Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better call personally for an examination, but if impossible to do so, may write for a list of Questions and Medical Treatise. An English Colony.

Attached to yesterday's north-bound express were two cars filled with immigrants, coming to settle in California. One party from the Southern States was going up into Sonoma county, while the other, English immigrants, intended to make Antelope Valley their home. The latter party consisted of twenty-seven persons, and the colony was in charge of Mr. James Shaw. They left H. dersfield, Yorkshire, England, on Ja u ary 10th, and including two delays, each of nearly one day, were only nineteen days in arriving in Los Angeles. In conversation with a TIMES reporter Mr. Shaw said that the people of Yorkshire heard more about California than about any other section of the United States, and that there were dozens of families from that section of the country who would follow his party during the spring and summer months. During their journey through the Eastern States, where they encountered such severe weather, the colonists were greatly disheartened and entertained doubts as to the beauty and wealth of California, but a more joyous crowd could not be found in the city than those same colonists as they alighted at the Los Angeles depot.

Burial of an Old Citizen.

He was also a charter member of Thirty-eight Engine Company No. 1. The entire Fire Department will turn out this morning to honor the memory of their old comhanion.

THE M'GLASHAN BILL.

A Measure Recently Introduced in the Assembly

FOR THE FORMATION OF NEW COUNTIES.

Synopsis of the Leading Features of the Bill —How New Counties are to be Carved Out.

The following are the leading features of the bill providing for the creation of new counties, introduced in the Assembly by Mr. McGlashan, of Nevada county, and referred to the Committee on Township Governments:

Existing counties may be divided and new counties formed in the following manner: On petition of two-thirds of the taxpayers of any district of a county, the petition being properly certified to by the County Assessor, and to set forth the proposed boundary line between the district proposed to be cut off from the county and such county, the name of the new county, and how the same is to be bounded, and the boundaries of five Supervisor districts. Such petition shall also set forth that two-thirds of the taxpayers residing within such district desire such action as mentioned in the prayer of said petition, and that there will remain not less than eight thousand inhabitants in each county from which it is desired that any district shall be cut off to form a new county, and that the inhabitants of the districts which it is proposed to constitute into such new county are not less than five thousand in number, and that none of the boundary lines of said county are within five miles of the county seat of any county to be affected thereby. But the Board of Supervisors shall not take action on any petition for the creation of a new county, unless it shall appear that the county which it is intended to create has within its territory not less than one thousand registered voters, and that the residue of each county from which territory is to be taken has not less than sixteen hundred voters appearing upon the Great Register of such county. If satisfied that all the requirements have been complied with, the Board of Supervisors shall direct the clerk of the county to certify forthwith to the Secretary of State that all of the requirements of this Act have been complied with. The Secretary of State, upon receiving such certificates, shall file one in his office, and transmit the other forthwith to the Governor, who shall, within ten days thereafter, appoint some suitable person, a resident, and qualified to be an elector of the proposed county, as census enumerator to take the census of the proposed county and of the residue of any county from which territory is to be taken. The census enumerator may appoint deputies, and shall have five cents for each name placed on his census list. The list must be compiled from the latest census or the appointment of the census enumerator. The facts shown by the list shall be certified by the County Clerk to the Secretary of State. But when the new county shall be formed wholly from one county, no census need be taken if the residue of that county will have not less than 8000 population and the new county not less than 5000. Within twenty days after the Governor shall have received from the Secretary of State the certificates and certified copies, he shall issue his proclamation stating that such proposed new county has been formed, and will be fully organized as soon as its officers shall have been duly elected and shall have qualified, and that on and after that date such new county shall be endowed with all the rights and privileges, and subject to all the responsibilities imposed on the several counties of this State by the laws and Constitution thereof. And he shall, at the same time, appoint five persons, one from each Supervisor District of such new county, who shall be qualified electors of said new county, and such persons so appointed shall, on taking the oath of office, file official bonds as required by the Political Code. The persons so appointed shall constitute the Board of Supervisors of such new county, and shall perform the duties required of Boards of Supervisors by general laws, and shall hold office until their successors are elected and shall have qualified. The bill provides for the election of county officers and the selection by ballot of a county seat. The new county shall bear the expense of having its boundaries surveyed and defined. Within thirty days after the organization of the Board of Supervisors of the new county, its Board of Supervisors shall meet successively with the Board of Supervisors of each county from which any territory has been cut off to form the new county, and the two Boards shall meet as a conjoint Board and proceed to determine what is the just proportion of the existing debts and liabilities of the old county. To be assured and paid by the new county. To determine any question by said joint Board shall require a majority of the Supervisors of each Board voting in the affirmative. Each joint Board of Supervisors shall certify to their respective Boards the amount of indebtedness of the several and respective counties to be assumed by the new county forthwith, after the same has been ascertained. The Board of Supervisors of the new county shall submit to the people a proposition for the issue of bonds, for the purpose of providing for the payment of the several shares of the indebtedness of each county from which the new county has been made up, and for the purpose of providing for the expenses of such new county, for the period of one year, and until the close of the fiscal year next following the expiration of such year, from the date of the formation thereof, and of the expenses of the creation and organization of said new county; provided, that no more than twenty thousand dollars of bonds shall be issued for the last named purpose. If two-thirds of the votes cast are in favor of issuing the bonds, they shall be issued. The bill also contains several provisions for adjusting liabilities, etc., existing before the formation of the new county. It provides, too, that no new county shall be formed as provided for in this act unless the new county so formed shall contain an area of not less than 600 square miles, nor unless the area of the county or of each of the counties from which the territory is taken to form such new county shall contain an area of not less than 600 square miles after such new county has been formed.

Counties organized under this act shall be and remain a part of the Senatorial and Assembly district to which the territory belonged before being organized into a new county, if the territory forming such new county was wholly taken from a single county; it otherwise, such new county shall join the county from which the greatest number of inhabitants was taken to form such new county, and become a part of the Senatorial and Assembly district to which such county belongs.

AMUSEMENTS.

THE ABBOTT OPERA COMPANY.—The sale of seats for the season of English Opera was very large. The total sales are now between $2,000 and $3,000. There are good seats yet to be had, and the sale will be continued to-day.

An Assured Success.

The Southern California Fire Insurance Company is now an assured success. Mr. H. C. Sigler, who has been actively engaged in securing the stock, has the full amount of $200,000 subscribed, most of it here in Los Angeles, although Riverside, San Bernardino, Pasadena and Santa Ana has taken some of it. The advantages of having a great company right at home, with money to loan to the farmers and business men, can hardly be measured at this time. The company will be formally organized in a few days and ready for business. Instead of sending over a quarter of a million dollars each year in premiums to foreign companies, it will be vastly better to keep the money at home to be used and loaned here. The success in getting so large an amount subscribed in so short a time and so quietly is another evidence that Los Angeles is becoming truly metropolitan.

Toler Excursion.

Toler's January excursion, consisting of about thirty-five persons, arrived in the city yesterday. Among the number are several who come with the intention of remaining on this coast, and Los Angeles county will catch most of them.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

[This is the TIMES-MIRROR'S Public Forum. Those who would stand thereon must first give the editor their real names and be responsible for their opinions and statements.]

The Chief's Case Well Stated.

To the Editor of the Times—SIR. Usually the right-meaning taxpayer, endowed with ability and talent, directs them in the vindication of right and in an effort to bring to speedy justice those persons who intract the low and corrupt morality; for by enforcing the laws of a municipality, the subject of taxation is protected and its value enhanced. But is this the case with the Herald's "Taxpayer?" Assail executive officers in the public press for having discharged the duty enjoined upon them by the appointing power, teach the readers of newspapers that a Sheriff or policeman has not the authority to make arrests under any circumstances, except as it is conferred by a warrant bearing the seal and signature of a judicial officer, and crime is abetted and criminals encouraged. Is the Chief of Police required by the ordinance of Los Angeles to run away to a Justice of the Peace and procure a warrant before he can legitimately arrest parties engaged in a street fight?

"Taxpayer" evidently has not learned the facts in the case he undertakes to discuss. The precinct invaded and the dwelling house unwarrantably entered by Chief McCarthy has become notorious by the dwellers therein. Robberies and crime there have been frequent. There is the abode of Annie Burlingame, alias Annie May Forest, once arrested upon a charge of stealing a large sum of money from a woman in the White House.

In that same brothel-infested region dwells the famed Robert Arminous McPherson, with an alias, arrested last December, charged with visiting gambling games. On the night of the 9th of January of this year Chief McCarthy, in the discharge of his duty, and knowing this locality to be infested with lawless men and women, swooped down upon it and there beheld with his own eyes a flagrant violation of the laws of morality of the city and of the State. What, then, was he by the oath of office required to do? Hasten away to an officer authorized by law to issue a warrant, and there make complaint of what he had already witnessed?

Certainly not; for under the circumstances he already possessed all the power that a warrant could give him, and clothed with authority when placed in office to make arrests for offenses committed in his presence. Had he acted differently he would have shown himself to be ignorant of the duties of the office he is so well fitted to fill. But, true to the trust reposed in him, he made an effort to then and there suppress the immorality, crime and vice against which decency revolts, by arresting the guilty parties. For doing which the heavy hand of "Taxpayer" and the Herald are raised against him. But having honestly, gallantly and intelligently performed his duty, he "can smile at satan's rage, and face a frowning world."

Oh, no! it is not ignorance that gives material for the fierce assaults made upon the Chief, but because he is a worthy, capable and fearless Republican Chief of Police. He was an eye-witness to an act forbidden by the city government, by which he is not only authorized but commanded to arrest and imprison, with or without a warrant, offenders against its laws.

Having done an act that he is commanded to do, shall he pay the expenses of defending it? "Tax-payer" says he should. But justice, immorality and the City Council say he shall not. Z.

Louise Davenport.

To the Editor of the Times—SIR: Having witnessed all of Miss Louise Davenport's personations during her present engagement, that of "The Dauphin," in Louis XI, impressed me as being her best. While it is not one calling for great histrionic talent, she portrayed it with such charming sweetness as to really make it more than ordinarily attractive. The touching plaintiveness she gave to her lines delighted beyond measure, while her—

"Grace of motion, and of look, the smooth
And swimming majesty of step and tread,
The symmetry of form and feature, set
The soul afloat, even like delicious airs
Of flute and harp."

Her manners were graceful without art, and to each look and word imparted a modesty and ease. Her thoughts were truthfully mirrored in her face, and in not a single instance did she swerve from the true ideal of the delightful role, in which light and shade were in such harmonious glow. It was delightfully impressive; and I can never think of Sheridan's masterly rendition of the cruel, crafty and ambitious Louis XI but that sweet voice, that plaintive tenderness, that harmony of soul, and of face, of the fair artiste will ever remind me of one with "heart on her lips, and soul within her eyes." FIRE EXPERIMENT.

Success of the Exhibition of the Harden Hand Grenade.

To convince the public that the Harden's hand grenade (or "Little Blue Bottles," as they are more commonly called) are as efficient in extinguishing fire as the agents claim, Mr. E. Clark, general agent for Southern California, gave a public exhibition of the way the bottles do their work yesterday afternoon.

By permission of the authorities, Mr. Clark built on Los Angeles street a small frame structure out of the very dryest pine possible to be had. The house thus made was about twelve feet high and nine feet square, open on one side. Inside was thrown large quantities of very dry pine kindling, and the entire mass was saturated and covered with coal oil and tar. An immense throng gathered to witness the experiment, among them many of the leading business men of the city and representatives of all the insurance firms in town. A little after four o'clock, the pile was fired and instantly the flames leaped to the height of thirty feet. Mr. Clark, with a little pint blue bottle in each hand, stood near by waiting for the proper moment to do the grand extinguishing act. Not until the large crowd was thoroughly satisfied that every stick of kindling and every pine board used in the make of the structure was on fire did Mr. Clark attempt to put it out. Then at a signal from the spectators he rushed forward, and striking two bottles together, broke them. In exactly seven seconds from the time the bottles broke every spark of the fire was out. Scores of those present rushed up and examined the charred boards, but not one lingering spark was to be seen. Delighted with the success of the experiment the throng gave cheer after cheer. Harden's hand grenades are certainly a wonderful invention, and, as demonstrated yesterday, are instant extinguishers. Everywhere along the coast where public exhibitions have been given they haven taken amazingly. In San Francisco they are in universal use, even the hook and ladder and fire patrol wagons carrying rows of little blue bottles on their sides. They are also in common use in Pullman coaches and on all ocean steamers. The small size and neat appearance of the bottles, placed in neat racks, add to the appearance of an office or private room. They are alike efficient and convenient for big or little fires, for business houses, private residences, public buildings or factories; and one of the great beauties and advantages is that it does not require a fire company to use them. A little child can use them just as effectually as a man.
